I wouder of all wimmin air

I woulde: Tell wimmin air
Like Li zie is when we go out
To theatr is an' concerts where
Is things the papers talk about.
Do other wimmin fret an' stew
Like they wuz being crucified—
Frettin' a show or concert through,
With wonderin' ef the baby cried?

Now Lizz e knows that gran'ma's there To see that everything is right, Yet Lizzie thinks that gran'ma's care Ain't good enun f'r baby, quice; Yet what am I to answer when She kird uv fidgets at my side,

Seems like she seen two little eyes A-pinin' f'r their mother's smile-

Seems like she been the pleadin' cries
Uv one she thinks uv all the while; Au' so she's sorry that she come, An' though she allus tries to hide The truth, she'd ruther stay to hum

Than wonder of the haby cried. Yes, winumin folks is all alike-By Lizzie you kin jedge the rest;

There never waz a little tyke, But that his mother loved him best And nex' to bein' what I be—
The husband of my gentle bride—
I'd wisht I wuz that croodlin' wee,
With Lizzie wonderin' of I cried.

The Way to Teach.

It is the recitation in direct or indirect studies which makes the pupil a friend or a Cole, druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottruant, a student or a source which makes the pupil a friend or a cole, druggist, Fort Smith. truant, a student or a scamp, which will guide him along the paths of honest endeavor or byways of indolence and indifference. He finds words of praise for well doing or condemnation of neglect. In the recitation the teacher gives proof of fitness or unfitness in his calling. Here is displayed the life of the school, and here is decided whether the school shall be a source of development or a source of un worthy motive, falseness and in-effective accomplishment. The pupils who recite from the book undergo an exercise of or money refunded. Price 25 cents per nemory which is valuable, but below the box. For sale by Hartz & Bahnsen. end sought. All recitations should be discussions with illustrations and demonstrations. We have too much recitation. Three legs, was found in a sarcophagus conhours should be enough. The details of the recitation of course depend on the teacher and the personality of the pupil. - Professor George Howland.

Mme. de Stael Described.

"Mme. de Stael (1812) was one of the most learned. singular looking foreign mousters that I ever beheld. Her face was that of a blackamoor attempted to be washed white. She wore a wig like a bunch of withered heather, and over that a turban which looked as if it had been put on in the dark; a short neck, and shoulders rising so much behind that they almost amounted to a hump. With this ugliness, all the airs of a beauty—forever tormenting her shawl into new draperies, beheld. Her face was that of a blackamoor and distorting her fingers as you see them blood purifier, a sure cure for ague and in the riciculous French portraits by Mignard and his followers. As to her conversation-to people who like long rhapsodies, scarcely intelligible, the theme chosen by the speaker, I dare say it was charming: for my own part, I had the bad taste not to be able to endure either her writings or discourses. I believe posterity will be of my mind as to the former; of the latter it can-not judge "-Charles Kirkpatrick Sharp in Temple Bar.

Wasted Skill.

For eleven years a Biddeford man has been at work with his jack knife, making a musum of wooden curiosities. He has done othing else, although his jack knifery has rought him no money except the small proeeds of two exhibitions. He has made aninals, tools, a violin case composed of 2,937 neces of wood of 106 different kinds, a yoke ing of all kinds. Sold only in bottles of oxen and a cart put together in a glass jar with a small neck, etc., etc. Many of his carvings are ornamental and others would find ready sale as toys, but he will not set a price upor anything or part with any article. nd his collection is consequently increasing all the time. It is a queer instance of folly. If the old man had properly applied his time, he might have done much good; but as it is, the only legacy that he will leave his fellow men is an example of what might be called nisdirected uselessness. - Lewiston Journal.

A Big Mistake.

She went to the ticket office at the station in the morning to learn at what time the late morning train started for Opunkachy Jun

"Twenty minutes to 11," replied the genlemanly ticket clerk. Her face expressed doubts, but she said nothing and went away. In the afternoon she came back, and seeing another G. T. C. at the window, ventured to repeat her query. "Ten forty," said the clerk, "There," she said, with a triumphant glance, "I was sure that the other fellow didn't

MRS. M'DONALD'S STORY.

The Run-Away Wife of Mike McDonald

Arrives at New York. ORK, Oct. 9. - Mrs. Michael C. Mc-Donald arrived on Saturday on the steamship City of Chicago, and is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. She came across the water under her maiden name, M. Noonau. "Mike" heard of her coming, and a private detective was on the pier awaiting the steamer, with a photograph to identify Mrs. McDonald. He didn't recognize her. The detective told the steamsh p officers that Mrs. McDonald had cabled to her husband that she was coming nome on that steamer, and he is said to be ready to receive her.

A Troublesome Father-in-Law. Mrs. McDonald talked in the hotel parlor with great animation about what she termed "the scandal." She denied emphatically that she had eloped with the priest. She had left her home in Chicago, she said, because her father-in law made her home life unhappy. If the priest disappeared on the same day as she did, she said, that was a mere coincidence, for which she was not responsible. She had not seen him, but she had heard that he was in a monastery near

Not Going to Chicago. "I am not going to Chicago," she contin-ed. "I am going to stay here and work for She was furious at the detecmy living." She was furious at the detec-tives that she said had been dogging her about. She called them "rats," and said that her husband would gain nothing by keeping them at her heels. "If he should send a gen-tleman to bring me home, or should come himself, why, the matter might be adjusted. It never can be with detectives, though."
